Dear Dean

At your convenience, would you be able to assist me in gathering more information about Caprice Electronics GS-21F-0083Y in regards to Part #8115-01-562-4555. Paula Miller stated that you assisted her before with this vendor in determining if they were authorized to sell this NSN or commercial equivalent. Please verify if this vendor is authorized.

I would appreciate any guidance you can provide. Thank you

Good morning Suzanne,

The company is listing a manufacturer number for the item. I see it is referencing an NSN in the description box. 51V MAS doesn't allow the NSN to be listed only OEM manufacturer p/n.

The pricing is also high for this item. I am requesting additional information from the company on this item.

Thank you

The answer is they can not put an NSN in the NSN field of their Advantage upload. However, they can make reference to an NSN in the description field if they state that is appears to be equal to the requirements of NSN..... or something like that.

They can not put an NSN in the NSN field of their Advantage upload. However, they can make reference to an NSN in the description field if they state that is appears to be equal to the requirements of NSN. They can not list NSN's on any MAS contracts. I have verified this also with Ellen Upchurch Division Chief for 51V.

NSN items on GSA Advantage

Daniel,

I have a questions on your pricelist, I reviewed NSN item 8105-01-390-1108, you are listing as the manufacturer as NSN-DINO.

Manufacturer's Part Number:

The Offeror must ensure that the Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM), Manufacturer Part Number, or Wholesaler Number for each proposed product reflects the actual number assigned. If the OEM, Manufacturer Part Number, or Wholesaler Number is submitted incorrectly or not submitted, the associated product will not be awarded.

NSNs are not allowed on MAS contracts, remove this item or any other items that are listing a NSN from your pricelist.

If you have questions, please contact me.

Thank you

The NSN is the MFG part number for this item as this is solely made for Government use. Please advise. Should I change it anyways?

They can not use the NSN as a manufacturer's part number as the Government owns the NSN and they do not have permission to use it. Therefore it needs to be a non related number and can not reference the NSN. If it is solely made for the Government then it is not commercial and can not be on the contract and must be removed immediately.

Daniel,

It appears your contract is listing other clothing items "base layer" clothing that should be under schedule 84. The actual MFG of the items is XGO but is listed as CEI and NIB (National Industries for the Blind).

p/n: 1F11A-DS-S

Please review and either remove or make appropriate changes.

Thank you

Dear Dean

At your convenience, would you be able to assist me in gathering more information about Caprice Electronics GS-21F-0083Y in regards to Part #8115-01-562-4555. Good morning Suzanne,

The company is listing a manufacturer number for the item. I see it is referencing an NSN in the description box. 51V MAS doesn't allow the NSN to be listed only OEM manufacturer p/n.

The pricing is also high for this item. I am requesting additional information from the company on this item.

Thank you

The answer is they can not put an NSN in the NSN field of their Advantage upload. However, they can make reference to an NSN in the description field if they state that is appears to be equal to the requirements of NSN..... or something like that.

Suzanne,

They can not put an NSN in the NSN field of their Advantage upload. However, they can make reference to an NSN in the description field if they state that is appears to be equal to the requirements of NSN. They can not list NSN's on any MAS contracts. I have verified this also with Ellen Upchurch Division Chief for 51V.

It has come to my attention that products offered by your company from the manufacturer MER are not within the scope of your contract and is not something that would typically be found in a hardware store.

Please review your entire MER product line and ensure all products are within scope of your contract. I am receiving to many concerns about GS-21F-0083Y product line.

Please add this to the review of the ROTHCO product line that you are conducting next week.

If you have any questions please notify me or Ellen Upchurch immediately.

Good Afternoon Dean,

I wanted to bring to your attention that Caprice Electronics, one of the contractors under your 'jurisdiction' has an AbilityOne bed pillow, #7210013957921, listed on GSA under his hardware contract #GS-21F-0083Y. I figured this may have been an error, and was supposed to go onto their hospitality contract, as we all know pillows do not belong on hardware, but after further investigation, we have learned that he does not have a hospitality contract.

Caprice Electronics is taking business away from contractors that are compliant and have done the difficult work to obtain the hospitality contract.

Please confirm that this item will be removed from their MAS schedule.

Daniel,

It has come to my attention that a number products offered by your company from the manufacturer: MER may not be made in TAA compliant countries, also, the company has not given GS-21F-0083Y permission to sell their line of products.

Please review

your complete line of MER products for TAA compliance and if they are not compliant please remove them immediately from your schedule. The TAA compliant products can be identified by the capital letter T at the beginning of the part number. The p/n with no letter T in the beginning is non TAA compliant and need to be removed immediately.

Send a copy of all MER product to me for scope review. Many of the MER product line is not within scope of the hardware store and would fall under the schedule 84 products.

I know you are out of the office this week, if you have questions please let me know.

A response is due back by Tuesday, 22 April 2014.

Thank you

I've tried to order the PT1400 P-Touch handheld label maker twice, from Premier & Companies and Caprice Electronics. Both times, days after I placed the order, the vendor told me it was discontinued and they can no longer provide it. If this is the case, why are they still listed in GSAAVantage.gov as being able to supply this item? Is this item available with ANY vendor or has it been discontinued completely? If it's not available anywhere, it should not be on the website at all. I've wasted enough time trying to order this. If it's available anywhere, please tell me where to order it from. Also, I only need two and I'm not spending $100 more on items I don't need just to meet a minimum order requirement.

Thank you.

Daniel,

I searched for this Stanley Handsaw . Part# 15-087 and your company lists this 4 times with 4 different prices (all under the same contract#).

Please update and you can only list one OEM p/n.

UNCLASSIFIED//NONE

Morning Dean,

I'm the Branch Chief for GSA Advantage working overseas with the Liaison Program. We have an issue with one of your vendors (CAPRICE ELECTRONICS, INC. GS-21F-0083Y). Using DLA NSN's on their catalog. There's a few other items listed also with NSN's. Can you tell me if this was notice on the SIP file when it was submitted to the VSC for upload. We are trying to get some clarification because when there's a search for the items and we submit for procurement. As you see below the KO in Kansas City will cancel the order based the NSN Being part of the DLA parts catalog. Can you please help us with this information. I'm also going to be talking to my director later about this issue.

We'll please let me know what they tell you. I'd like to know for my own reference but it is something we all need to be aware of. Thanks.

Why are there DLA NSN's listed on Advantage to purchase? The NSN is 8145-01-519-2272. Attached is the 1348 and the Advantage page for your reference.

Were these in the description field or in the NSN field? They are allowed to have them in the description field although we try to discourage it. They just can not be reflected in the NSN field of SIP.

Daniel,

Thank you very much for your response. Unfortunately, I don't see any transshipment status of TCN# N400844014A004XXX in DLA/CCP system. Could you pls send me Paperworks/Packing Slip that you have used/enclosed before sending the materials to CCP (Tracy CA)?? I would like to confirm what exact TCN# you have used prior to the delivery to CCP. TCN# is the only key for CCP to determine that those materials are mine here in (b) (2)

Hi,

This order was drop shipped from the manufacturer but we had them use N400844014A004XXX as the TCN. They are closed now but I requested they send me a copy of the packing list per your email and I will send it over as soon as I receive it.

Daniel,

Yes, please verify that copy of the packing list from MFR, which is actually enclosing with the materials, and also send me that copy. Even if that MFR/vendors made the mistake on one (1) digit of numbers, CCP cannot locate the materials. Not your system number, but the actual numbers that are on the actual materials. There are many occasions that the MFR/vendors made a mistake on providing the correct TCN# that result in sticking in "Frustrated Area" over at CCP.

Understood. We have a lot of experience with shipping to consolidation centers so we will do our best to rectify this for you ASAP. We also always let the shipper know how crucial the TCN is and that they should put it on the packing list & label.

Yes, pls, and let me know. Based on all the info I've received from you so far, I believe that's what's happening over at Tracy CA (stucking based on the incorrect TCN# by MFR)..
